Age Policy

18 and Over Division: Each player must be the age of his respective age bracket by December 31, 2010. If any MABL player is the age of 17 and will turn age 18 by December 31, 2010, he is eligible to play in this tournament. If there is a protest and a team is found to be using an illegal player or players, that team will forfeit all wins by the score of 18 to 0. The illegal player(s) will be banned from further play in the tournament. Managers using a MABL player or players that are the age of 17 and that will turn 18 by December 31, 2010, must signify the player(s) on his team's roster for the tournament directors. All players must have their Drivers License on their person for proof of age during the tournament.

35 and Over Division: Each player must be the age of his respective age bracket by December 31, 2010. We will allow 2 age exemptions of no more than 2 years for all 35+ teams, with the provision they cannot pitch!!! The illegal player or players will also be banned from further play in the tournament. All players must have their Drivers License on their person for proof of age during the tournament. Since the age of the player in this age division is based on how old he will be by December 31, 2010, a 34 year old player (or players) that turns 35 by December 31, 2010, is (or they are) NOT bound by the "cannot pitch" rule, nor will they be counted towards the 2 age exemptions.

- a. Age allowed for 35+ Division only – 2 players who turned or will turn 33 or 34 (only one of each age) by December 31, 2010.

We will allow 2 age exemptions of no more than 2 years for all 45+ teams, with the provision they cannot pitch!!! This means first paid first served on scheduling request. The tournament director(s) do not guarantee an exact match to any team's scheduling request; however, our best efforts will be made. Teams need to be prepared to play at their scheduled divisional times. You may request an emailed copy of the tournament schedule 3 days ahead of the tournament start date. The schedule will be emailed to you if it's ready to be published; this depends on all team entry fees being paid in full and final rosters being submitted.
